November 2026

1 · WHY REDESIGN

What we found on the current site

Measured on delicasea.ph in a real browser, November 2026.

ISSUE	DETAIL	FIX IN THE REDESIGN
Very slow pages	Deli Kitchen downloads 37 MB (~10 s on fast internet). Market 18 MB, homepage 10 MB. Each product photo is ~600 KB but shown at ~190 px.	Photos resized to WebP, ~60–80 KB each (≈90% smaller). Kitchen page target under 3 MB.
Heavy code	React + AngularJS 1.8 (unsupported) + jQuery + Blazor, a 2.3 MB in-browser Babel compiler and Google Maps (~2.5 MB) loaded on every page.	One framework, no Babel in production, load Maps only where an address is typed.
Outdated / broken content	Homepage banner is a Jan 2020 "Free delivery · P600" Ebi Saladwich promo (item no longer sold). Facebook Messenger chat plugin no longer works (shut down by Meta in 2024). JavaScript errors and a server error (500) on every page.	New hero; Viber / m.me buttons; errors to fix.
Price / copy errors	₱0 shown for "Live Giant Red Crabs" and "Cheesy Baked Large Hokkaido Scallops". "aprox." typos. Prices written two ways (₱2300 vs P2300.00). Card name ≠ product page name. "Photo coming soon" on 2 lobster dishes.	Consistent ₱2,300 format, "Ask on Viber" when no price.
Missing trust & info	No delivery areas / fees, order lead time, cut-off, payment methods. Serving size only inside product pages.	Info bar, How to order, FAQ, serving size on every card.
Google visibility	No robots.txt, no sitemap.xml (404), no structured data, homepage has no H1, dish photos are CSS backgrounds (not indexable). Site not found when searching its name.	Add sitemap, robots, LocalBusiness + Product schema, real <img> with alt text; submit to Google Search Console.
